What to do if you see injured wildlife:

Do not touch any animal that has come into contact with oil! Instead, call the hotline to report the animal (the number you provided earlier). As back-up, you might want to mention the following two concepts...

- Oil is a hazardous material, so you do not want to come into direct contact with it.

- Injured wildlife can be very defensive, which could result in bodily harm if an animal is handled.

It’s also worth noting that when someone calls the hotline, they should be prepared to provide the location of the animal sighted.

Transporting wildlife to a veterinarian, rehabilitator, or zoo is NOT recommended – calling the hotline is the best thing to do. Call 1-866-557-1401 to report oiled wildlife.
